For Registered Pension Plans and Locked in Products, your spouse is automatically entitled to the death benefit and is first in line ahead of any other beneficiary you designate unless they choose to waive their entitlement.

A revocable beneficiary can be changed at anytime.

An irrevocable beneficiary can only be changed with written consent from that beneficiary. You may also need your beneficiary's consent to withdraw or transfer money from your account. A parent or guardian cannot provide consent on behalf of a minor who has been named as irrevocable beneficiary.

Beneficiary designations are considered revocable unless you write "irrevocable" in the chart(s) below. If a beneficiary designated below predeceases you, any benefit payable will be shared equally among the surviving designated beneficiaries.

For Quebec only:

The designation of a married or civil union spouse as a beneficiary is deemed to be irrevocable unless specified here: Revocable

In the event of an annulment or dissolution of civil union or divorce or nullity of marriage, the designation is automatically revoked. The designation of any other person is revocable unless otherwise stipulated.

A primary beneficiary is the person, people or entity you choose to receive the death benefits. If you choose more than one beneficiary, you will need to indicate what percentage of the benefit you would like each person to receive. When multiple primary beneficiaries are named, the total of the percentages allocated to each primary beneficiary must add up to 100%.

A contingent beneficiary is the person, people or entity you designate to receive the death benefits if all of the primary beneficiaries die before you.

List all primary beneficiaries.
