

A single parent

You are, or could be, a single parent with one or more children

Scenario:

As a single parent, I want to make sure that my child is taken care of if I get sick, or if something happens to me. I don't want them (or if they are still young their grandparents), to be left struggling. I want to provide them with the life they currently have including activities and sports, while still setting aside money that can be used for their schooling.

Result:

I decided to purchase additional Optional Life and Critical Illness Insurance, for myself and my child, if one of us gets a critical illness or something happens. Now it is one less thing I need to worry about, and I can just focus on the family.

The content on this page serves as an example of a life event, meant for context and consideration when thinking about adding insurance to your portfolio. It is not meant to be taken as a recommendation and we always suggest you seek the advice from a licensed insurance advisor when making important insurance decisions. Products are offered based on plan availability, applications are subject to review, and claims are paid out on approval and are not guaranteed.
